Student Petition for a Course Drop Exemption to the Six-Drop Policy

Effective Fall 2007, the newly legislated and enacted six-drop policy limits each student to dropping no more than six courses throughout his or her undergraduate college career at Texas public institutions of higher education. Under section 51.907 of the Texas Education Code, "an institution of higher education may not permit a student to drop more than six courses, including any course a transfer student has dropped at another Texas public institution of higher education. However, there are exemptions that may allow a student to drop a course without having it count against the six-drop limit, but it is the student's responsibility to demonstrate good cause. Exemptions for good cause are listed in Number 4 below.
