

Identity Management at Work

Welcome to Our Study!

Thank you for your time and interest in our study. People with disabilities are a growing proportion of the population (20%; U.S. Census, 2010), but their experiences in the workplace are under explored. We hope that you will consider participating in this study to help us better understand the experiences of employees with disabilities, like you, who have recently started a new job.

Information you should know

Participation in this research involves completing four surveys over a 3-month period (they will be automatically e-mailed to you at different time periods, once you complete the first one). The first survey takes approximately 10-minutes, the second 15-minutes, and the last two, 20-minutes. For each survey you complete after the first, you will be paid $5.
