GRADE AN ASSIGNMENT WITH MULTIPLE ATTEMPTS

Allowing more than one attempt for an assignment is a good way to permit students to send in drafts and earn credit on improvements. The instructor can assign grades as each attempt is submitted, but only use the grade for the final paper as the assignment's grade.

When you create an assignment, you can decide how many attempts to allow under Submission Details and which score to use in the Grade Center from the Score attempts using dropdown menu. For example, if you allow three attempts, you can select one of the following scores:

- Last Grades Attempt
- Highest Grade
- Lowest Grade
- First Graded Attempt
- Average of Grade Attempts

To see Multiple Attempts: If you allowed multiple attempts for an assignment, and a student has submitted all attempts, they all appear in the gradebook cell's contextual (drop down) menu.

If an attempt is ungraded, the exclamation mark remains in the cell along with the scores for attempts you graded.
When you click on dropdown menu of the cell in Gradebook for a specific student and choose one of the attempts the following screen appears:

A. On the Grade Assignment page, the number of attempts submitted appears next to a student's name on the action bar.

B. Students can view which attempt you are using for the final score, such as Last Graded Attempt or the Average of All Graded Attempts.

C. Click the Attempt drop-down list to view other attempts. If you associated a rubric with the assignment, you can refer to it while grading.

After selecting an attempt, type in a grade and feedback and click Submit.
