Demography Lecture Series

Julieta Pérez Amador,
El Colegio de México

Understanding the Continuity and Change of Cohabitation in Mexico: Same as Before, or Different Anew?

Thursday, May 15, 2014
12:00 PM - 1:00 PM in Room FS 1.402
All are invited to attend

Julieta Pérez-Amador is a demographer specializing in family demography and demography of inequality. She is currently a professor at the Center for Demographic, Urban and Environmental Studies at El Colegio de México. Previously she was a Demography Trainee in the Center for Demography & Ecology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison where she earned her PhD in Sociology. She has also worked for the national statistics office of Mexico (INEGI). Her research interest focus on nuptially, living arrangements, and the transition to adulthood; she is especially interested in the relationship between family and household behaviors and inequality.