DIVISION OF SOCIAL SCIENCES

The Division of Social Sciences offers bachelor of arts degrees in anthropology, geography, history, political science, psychology, sociology, and American studies. The latter degree is offered jointly with the Division of English, Classics, and Philosophy. At least 36 credit hours of course work are required to fulfill a social science major. The 36-hour total is considered a minimum, and students are encouraged to deepen and broaden their control of their field through careful allocation of some of their elective credit hours.

All social science majors other than those in American studies require the student to complete six semester hours of support work. These courses, which require the advisor's advance approval, should serve to introduce the student to aspects of the social sciences in addition to those entailed in the course work within the student's major discipline.

At some point in the student's junior or senior year, one of the several social science (SSG) courses is completed. These interdisciplinary courses typically involve intensive examination of some topic from the perspectives offered by two or more disciplines within the social sciences.

INTERNSHIP STUDY

Majors in the Division of Social Sciences may apply 3 or 6 semester hours of internship study to their baccalaureate program. Internship entails supervised experience within selected organizations in the San Antonio area. Placement is arranged by the Internship Coordinator of the Division of Social Sciences. Supervision and grading of the internship experience is normally done by Division faculty members. Students from majors other than the Social Sciences are welcome to participate but should consult with their faculty advisors regarding the role of the internship within their own degree programs. Further information can be obtained from the Internship Coordinator.

DIVISIONAL HONORS

The Division of Social Sciences designates certain of its outstanding students as Honors students and provides the opportunity for advanced study under close faculty supervision.

Admission to the Divisional Honors program is based on performance on a comprehensive examination in the major discipline and recommendation by the faculty of the student's major discipline. The honors examination, which must be taken prior to the student's registration for the last two semesters in residence, is open only to students with a minimum grade-point average of 3.0 overall at UTSA and a minimum grade-point average of 3.5 in their major at UTSA. The minimum grade-point averages must be maintained for students to receive the approval of the Division Honors Committee and the discipline faculty. Students admitted to the Honors program are expected to enroll in the appropriate Honors Thesis course during the final two semesters in residence. The completed thesis must be approved by the supervising faculty sponsor and another Divisional faculty member. Students interested in this program should contact their faculty advisors for additional information.

BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE IN AMERICAN STUDIES

The Bachelor of Arts Degree in American Studies is an interdisciplinary degree offered jointly by the Divisions of Social Sciences and English, Classics, and Philosophy.
Students in the American Studies program will use materials and methodologies from several disciplines to explore the interrelationships among the diverse elements of American culture. With prior approval students choose courses from those offered by many Divisions in The University, as well as specialized American Studies courses; in this curriculum, students work out an area of interest (e.g., Minorities in the Southwest, Modernism in America, Comparative Culture, etc.) with an AMS advisor and submit it to the American Studies Committee of the College for approval.

The minimum number of semester hours required for this degree, including the 42 hours of General Education Requirements, is 120.\(^{34}\)

All candidates for the degree must complete:

A. 39 semester hours in courses approved by the American Studies Committee, 21 of which must be at the upper-division level.

1. 18 semester hours of required courses are:
   a. AMS 2013 Basic Issues in American Culture
   b. AMS 3013 Main Currents in Pre-Industrial American Culture
   c. AMS 3023 Main Currents in Industrial American Culture
   d. 9 semester hours of AMS 4951-3 Special Studies in American Culture

2. 21 semester hours of elective courses offered in other disciplines approved by the American Studies Committee.

B. 39 semester hours of electives.

degree, except for American Studies majors who will be required to take this course for a total of nine semester hours.

BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE IN ANTHROPOLOGY

Anthropology is the study of man’s cultural behavior — that body of customs and ideas which continues from generation to generation, serves the same function that instinctual patterns do in lower animals, and varies markedly from one human population to another. Among the subfields of anthropology are archaeology, the reconstruction and explanation of man's cultural past; cultural anthropology, the study of cultural and linguistic variation among contemporary peoples; and physical anthropology, the study of fossil man and the physiological bases of cultural behavior.

The minimum number of semester hours required for this degree, including the 42

Independent reading, research, discussion, and/or writing under the direction of a faculty member. May be repeated for credit, but not more than 6 hours of independent study, regardless of discipline, will apply to a bachelor’s degree.

4933-6 Internship in Anthropology
3 or 6 hours credit. Prerequisite: Consent of internship coordinator.
Supervised experience relevant to anthropology within selected community organizations. A maximum of 6 credit hours may be earned through Internship in Anthropology.

4951-3 Special Studies in Anthropology
1-3 hours credit. Prerequisite: Consent of instructor.
An organized course offering the opportunity for specialized study not normally or not often available as part of the regular course offerings. Special Studies courses may be repeated for credit when the topics vary, but not more than 6 hours within any one discipline will apply to a bachelor's degree.

4973 Anthropology Senior Seminar
(3-0) 3 hours credit. Prerequisite: Senior standing as an anthropology major.
A seminar reserved to anthropology majors during their senior year. Areas of significant new research in each subfield of the discipline will be reviewed in conjunction with individualized research projects.

4993 Honors Thesis
3 hours credit. Prerequisite: Enrollment limited to candidates for honors in anthropology during their last two semesters; completion of honors examination and apprt val by the Honors Program coordinator.
Supervised research and preparation of an honors thesis. May be repeated once with advisor's approval.

BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE IN GEOGRAPHY

At the core of geography are relationships over space. Some relationships involve physical-human interactions (e.g., the carrying capacity of the environment for different cultural groups, or the environmental consequences of pollution by man). Some relationships involve human-human interactions (e.g., between urban form and urban function, or between a group's socioeconomic status and its place-perceptions). The primary variables for geography are spatial: location, scale, pattern, orientation, interconnection. These variables may be examined in detail in the context of a particular region (regional geography) or in less detail across a number of regions (systematic geography). The major examines the field of geography and its implications for the use of physical and social space.

The minimum number of semester hours required for this degree, including the 42 hours of General Education Requirements, is 120.*

All candidates for the degree must complete:

A. 30 semester hours in the major, 21 of which must be at the upper-division

BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE IN HISTORY

History is the study of the past of human society, as that past is revealed mainly through the analysis of written and oral records. The foundation of historical study is a set of methods for evaluating and interpreting historical sources and a set of attitudes toward the past, whereby non-contemporary societies are regarded as objects of investigation in themselves, as products or prior history, and as the bases from which subsequent change developed. The vastness of the discipline precludes a single standard internal division of the subject; the branches of history may be categorized by geographical region (e.g., American, European), by era (e.g., medieval, modern), and by the type of human activity upon which the historian focuses (e.g., political, intellectual).
The minimum number of semester hours required for this degree, including the 42 hours of General Education Requirements, is 120.\textsuperscript{37}

BACHELOR OF ARTS DEGREE IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Political Science is the study of public decisions, the principles and processes by which, and the structures through which, they are made. It is concerned with the conflict among different social values and interests as they influence and are influenced by the behavior of governments and politicians. Traditionally, political science has been associated with the study of history, law, and philosophy; the contemporary discipline is more closely allied with sociology and economics. These influences are reflected in the diversity of approaches and methods used in the field. Among the major subdivisions of political science are American government and politics, comparative politics, international politics, public law, public administration, and political philosophy.
