Q Question and answer

Regarding SB37, how will faculty representation in the Senate change under the proposed structure?

- The proposal is still under review. The current draft suggests a modified selection process where each college would have two representatives: one appointed by the president and one elected by faculty.

What is the university doing to address the grant freezes that are affecting faculty and students? What grants have been canceled?

- Currently, 16 grants are paused and 3 DOD-related grants have been canceled. We are evaluating various scenarios and models to help us adjust as needed.

Has UTSA's designation as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI) changed?

- No, UTSA continues to hold its federal designation as a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI), and that status remains unchanged.

What is the purpose of One Riverwalk Place?

- One Riverwalk Place will serve as a future home for the School of Architecture and Planning. The building also includes existing tenants whose presence contributes to generating revenue for the university.

One of the strategic investments was related to retaining employees – what are the strategies for that?

- The staff compensation study is ongoing. Beyond that, People Excellence is leading the faculty and staff wellbeing initiative for the benefit of all employees. Through Faculty Success and other offices, we will continue to expand on all these initiatives and implement recommendations.

How can the Faculty Senate support ongoing university efforts?

- When information is requested by the UT System, the university collaborates with academic leadership, subject-matter experts, and the Government Relations Office to provide informed responses. Continued engagement and communication from the Faculty Senate help support these efforts.
